WHAT'S IN THE BAG?

Turned pro: 2009

Career highlights: Second at European Tour School; 8th at the Castello Masters and 14th at the Singapore Open in 2009

Did you know? Sam and 2009 Rookie of the Year Chris Wood were a highly successful foursomes partnership at amateur international level

UTILITY

When I was an amateur I would switch between a utility and a 2-iron but since turning pro I have stuck with my 17° Rescue TP utility. The rough on Tour is pretty thick most weeks, which makes it better suited to a utility. When I was playing links courses as an amateur the 2-iron was a better option.

FAIRWAY WOOD

I have a 13° R9 fairway wood with the same Project X Graphite shaft as my driver. It fills a nice gap between my driver and utility club.

DRIVER

I have just put the new TaylorMade SuperTri in the bag. Like my old R9, it is 9.5° and is set up neutral. It launches slightly higher than my old club and has a bigger head which gives more forgiveness.

PUTTER

I also met up with putter expert Kia Ma when I was in America. He custom made me two Rossa putters. He was a fascinating guy and the detail which goes into his putters is incredible. I went on a putter machine and studied my stroke, which was really interesting.

WEDGES

I went to TaylorMade's headquarters in America and was fitted for the new TP XFT wedges. The faces are changeable, which is great because the heads have the perfect grind for me and I can just change the grooves as frequently as I like.

IRONS

I have the new R9 TP irons in the bag at the moment. They are a cross between a blade and a cavity which I think is a good combination. I really like the way they look both in the bag and at address.

BALL

I have just switched to the new Penta TP ball. It goes a very similar distance to the TP Red ball I was using before but spins more on approach shots.
